PROPT RESIGNS; THREE INSPECTORS SUSPENDED

GOVERNOR DONAHEY SCORES METHODS OF OHIO ENFORCEMENT

Arraigns Propst For High Handed Means
In Raids

COLUMBUS, O., March 9.—State Prohibition Commissioner B. F. McDonald today suspended for thirty days Prohibition Inspectors Carl Selzer, J. B. Coulter and Fred Curtis.

Suspensions were made on the recommendation of Gov. Vic Donahey who has just completed an investigation of law enforcement methods in use in the dry department.

In addition to the suspensions, the dismissal of Deputy State Commissioner S. A. Propst, was recommended. Propst, storm center of the inquiry when confronted with the recommendation, submitted his resignation, effective March 23.

Immediately after announcing the suspensions, McDonald announced the appointment of W. D. Jones of Columbus, as acting deputy commissioner, succeeding Propst. Jones is known as a "sane enforcement officer."

The "housecleaning" in the department, it was said, will be accompanied by what is expected to be a marked change in policies in enforcement of the prohibition law.

A permanent successor for Propst will not be appointed immediately, McDonald said.

The governor also denounced the use of women to entrap suspected law violators, "as moral crimes of reprehensible character."

The governor expressed astonishment "that such high handed tactics could happen in America such as Propst firing on an automobile occupied by innocent persons."

In addition, the executive ordered that private homes shall not be invaded by dry agents in the future except after most careful inquiry and with an abundance of corroborative evidence; that the prohibition department must limit its activities mainly to the apprehension and prosecution of manufacturers and transporters; inspectors in the future must work with local officials to see that the local officials are doing their duty and report derelictions of duty to the prohibition department; that the motto "respect for law is in exact proportion to its honest enforcement" be observed.

The governor scathingly assailed Propst, declaring his actions on several raids has not only been "unjustifiable but indefensible."

"I appreciate that he has been well intentioned and energetic but in his eagerness to enforce the law he has trampled on the rights of innocent people and has resorted to means that in good conscience cannot be defended," the executive declared demanding Propst's dismissal.

McDonald was completely exonerated.

In summarizing his investigation the governor said the evidence concerning the Westerville raid, "shows that at the direction of a Propst, a natty was made to entrap Nutt through the lure of a woman whose reported conversation and overtures in planning the arrangement were sordid and revolting."

Condemning such methods the governor added:

"We need not resort to frame ups in the enforcement of prohibition. We do not want in the state department, officers who, in the name of the state, stoop to add the attainment of sex to a planned entrapment for a liquor law violation."

Propst and Curtis were scathingly arraigned for firing on the automobile driven by Harold Jackson of Springfield, as he and his wife and child were returning from the country late in August. Believing the officers were bandits, Jackson refused to heed their command to halt. The officers punctured the tires with bullets.

"The lives of an innocent man, woman and child were endangered and property destroyed at the mere whim of suspicion," the governor said.

"The terrorized family was left stranded on a road at night as the officers continued on their way. That such high-handed tactics could happen in America is almost unthinkable."

The raid made by officers led by Propst at the home of two aged sisters in London on February 13, was declared to have been unwarranted.

"The evidence in this case is voluminous and somewhat conflicting but there is no doubt in my mind that the search was uncalled for and unwarranted," Donahey said.

In contrast to the methods resorted to by Propst the governor outlined specifically his views of the duties of the dry department.

"Homes should not be invaded except after careful inquiry," he said.

DIVINING ROD WILL BE USED TO TRACE FIVE BELIEVED DROWNED

Canadian Who Claims Ability To Find Bodies Under Water Is Summoned In Search For
Phipps Family

LEAMINGTON, Ont., Mar. 9.—Search for five missing members of the James Phipps family of Leamington, who are believed to have lost their lives in an automobile plunge through the ice of Lake Erie a week ago, will be actively resumed tomorrow with the arrival here of Charles Neal, of Western, Ont., friends of the family said today.

Neal it was said, claims the ability to locate bodies submerged in water by means of a "V" shaped piece of copper wire similar to the "V" shaped wooden divining rod used in certain rainless sections to find veins of water for wells.

Edward Mitchell a neighbor of the family, today denied a report that the five bodies had been found, explaining it was believed to have resulted from a radio announcement that Neal claimed he had been successful in finding bodies by his copper wire method.

Two bodies were found by Neal, more than a year ago.

COUNTY INFIRMARY HEAD PRESENTS HIS RESIGNATION HERE

Superintendent Crow
Gives Up Office—Salary
May Be Cut

By United Press
Resignation of D. E. Crow, superintendent of the Greene County Infirmary, was accepted by County Commissioners Monday afternoon, effective April 1, 1926.

Plans for naming his successor will be immediately formulated and a date is expected to be set soon by the State Civil Service Commission for an examination of applicants for the position.

Mrs. Crow, who has served as matron at the infirmary during the administration of her husband also severs association with the institution.

Resignation was voluntary upon the part of Mr. Crow, who declared he would be unwilling to assume the additional responsibility of superintending farming of added lands as a result of action of commissioners in purchasing 160 acres of the former Moore-Butterbaugh farm with the view of extending the farm acreage of the infirmary and County Children's Home.

Simultaneously with the announcement of acceptance of the resignation of Superintendent Crow came action of commissioners in introducing a formal resolution reducing annual salary of superintendent of the infirmary to $340 per year and that of matron, to $600 a year, effective April 1. The resolution has not been passed.

Proposed reduction would be a decrease in the superintendent's salary of $360 per year and a decrease of $100 per year for the matron.

PHILADELPHIA, March 9.—Completion of the jury to try David L. Marshall, chiropractor, for the murder of his sweetheart, Anna May Dietrich, was expected before noon today in the second day of Marshall's battle to escape the electric chair.

Eight men remain to fill the jury box, four having been chosen after numerous challenges by both sides.

With the jury sworn in the prosecution was to immediately open its case.

According to attaches of the prosecutors office, ample evidence is at hand to show that Marshall, who confessed he choked Anna Dietrich to death and then dismembered her body in fear of exposure of his dual life, was guilty of first degree murder.

Marshall came to the courtroom today with the same calm and unruffled demeanor that characterized his appearance yesterday.

PETS TAKE PLACE OF SLAYERS IN HOME

HAVANA, O., Mar. 9.—An airedale dog and a common alley cat will take the place in the home here of James and Leonard Lyons, captured yesterday for the murder of Detective Frank McGrath.

"And they won't hurt nobody," says George Lyons, father of the slayers.

"I'm glad they got 'em," said the old man as he sat by the tiny coal stove in the barn-like farm house with his dog and cat for companions.

"They're hard 'uns, those boys are and they won't find me hanging around to say howdy when they bring 'em home. I haven't eaten or slept much since this thing happened."

"I knew that somebody was going to get hurt if they tried to arrest Jim. Jim told me after he got out of that Bowling Green scrape that if they ever tried to arrest him again, some one was going to die."

"Lem always has been a good boy and never got into scrapes. Guess he hobb-nobbed around with Jim too much."

"But Duke and Tubby and me can get along all right, without 'em," the father said.

NILES KLAN PARADE
PLANNED IN SPITE
OF MANY WARNINGS

Will Parade With or Without Permit Says
Spokesman

By United Press
NILES, O., March 9.—Scoffing warnings that a parade may precipitate a riot similar to the one last year in which twenty-seven men were wounded with a National Guard ordered out, the Niles Klan today announced a huge demonstration would be held here May 29.

Klansmen from throughout the country will be here for the demonstration, P. M. Cox, official spokesman for the county organization told the United Press, adding that preparations for a gigantic parade are under way.

Questioned as to whether he believed a permit for the demonstration will be granted, Cox declared: "If Niles is in America, we will parade. We can parade with or without a permit."

Cox has been cautioned a demonstration parade may result disastrously. Three times the Klan has attempted to parade here and in each instance, anti-Klan forces launched a counter-demonstration.

On the last occasion a series of riots threw the town into turmoil. Battles were fought in the streets, sticks and stones were hurled and order was not restored until martial law was declared and National Guard troops were rushed to the scene.

SLAYERS CAPTURED IN MICHIGAN AFTER SHOOTING OFFICER

Lyons Brothers Admit
Murder After Arrest

By United Press
ALPENA, Mich., March 9.—Captured after a spectacular automobile chase in which Police Chief Douglas McKenzie was shot and wounded, James and Leonard Lyons, wanted in Norwalk, Ohio for the murder of Frank McGrath, American Railway Express detective at Havana, were under arrest here today. They will be returned to Ohio immediately.

The brothers were captured after a twelve mile chase in which James, the elder, shot McKenzie. The police chief was in a serious condition this morning.

After a severe grilling, James admitted he shot McGrath at Havana.

McKenzie came upon the boys on a street here. The brothers, living up to their reputation as "two gun bad men" whipped out revolvers, fired at McKenzie, leaped into an automobile and fled.

Scores of farmers, deputy sheriffs, police and American Legion volunteers took part in the chase but only Deputy Charles Burns and three aides participated in the actual capture.

When surrounded by Burns and his aides, the boys surrendered without firing a shot.

The curiosity of Alpena citizens resulted in the capture of the boys who had successfully evaded police since the killing of McGrath several weeks ago.

Attention was first drawn to the boys when they abandoned an automobile on the outskirts of the city taking with them, a number of bundles.

Nearby residents became suspicious and notified McKenzie. As the brothers approached the business district, McKenzie approached them from the rear, Leonard was walking several steps behind his brother.

McKenzie ran past Leonard and grabbed the bundle on James' shoulder, then ordered both boys to give an explanation of where they were going.

James responded with two bullets, the second striking McKenzie in the neck. As the officer stumbled and fell, Leonard whipped out a gun and fired. Then both boys fled.

Pedestrians pursued them until the brothers leaped into an automobile and headed out of town. A general alarm was sounded and soon the entire countryside was on the lookout for the boys.

Farmers armed with shotguns took up positions in the snow filled roads waiting for the appearance of the machine.

At Alpena, Burns received word of the escape. Burns recruited three business men and they blockaded the main road into Alpena with automobiles. A truck sped down the road and stopped at the barricade. A few moments later the machine carrying the Lyons boys, sped down the highway at break-neck speed.

Seeing the cars parked across the roadway, the boys ran their machine into a snow bank.

James, who was driving made a desperate effort to turn the machine. Burns and his volunteers, converged on them from all angles.

"Hold your fire, don't shoot!" the boys shouted.

NORWALK, O., Mar. 9.—County Prosecutor E. C. Martin, left here today for Alpena, Mich., where he will make legal arrangements for returning James and Leonard Lyons to Ohio.

The brothers were indicted Friday on a charge of first degree murder and shooting to kill, for the murder of Frank McGrath of Cleveland, detective to the American Railway Express Co.

GREAT BRITAIN AND FRANCE ARE AGREED UPON DISARMAMENT

Favor May 17 as Date
For Conference at Geneva

By United Press
GENEVA, Mar. 9.—Great Britain and France have agreed tentatively that the league of nations preliminary disarmament conference shall convene at Geneva, May 17.

The preliminary economic conference would meet April 29 if the tentative schedule were adhered to.

This agreement to convene the two conferences at Geneva, rejects Soviet foreign minister, George Tchitcherin's ultimatum that Russian delegates would not participate in either conference unless it were held outside Switzerland.

Strong opposition immediately developed to the Franco-British plans.

GENEVA, Mar. 9.—The League of Nations council and assembly abandoned their session today to permit the various statesmen to seek private agreement on the conflicting claims of Germany, Poland, Spain and Brazil to permanent council membership.

Although it is certain that the council crisis cannot be solved until Brand or some other representative of an actual French government arrives in Geneva, the delegates today launched an effort to effect a compromise on the basis of immediate election of Germany to the council and subsequent election of Spain and Brazil.

DISAPPEARS DUE TO FINANCIAL TROUBLE RELATIVES BELIEVE

D. L. Earley, Elevator
Owner, Being Sought
By Lodge

Thought to have been despondent because he believed himself on the verge of a financial crisis, Daniel Lee Earley, 40, Jamestown, owner and manager of grain elevators at Rosemore, east of Jamestown and at New Jasper, disappeared from his home Monday.

According to Charles M. Burr, Jamestown, his brother-in-law, Earley was driven to Xenia in a truck by an employee of the New Jasper mill Monday morning at 8 o'clock from where he is believed to have gone to Dayton.

He left a short note in the care of the mill hand to be delivered to his wife, Mrs. Bertha Earley, in which he announced he would keep on going until he found a job and then probably go to work, as he was a failure.

The note did not say whether he ever intended to return to his home.

Belief that he has determined to leave this part of the country to recuperate his fortune is strengthened by a letter mailed from Dayton which reached Bowersville Tuesday noon instructing Herbert T. Fisher, cashier of the Bowersville Bank, to close up his affairs.

His disappearance was reported to Sheriff Morris Sharp Tuesday. No official steps have been taken to trace the man.

Members of the Jamestown Masonic Lodge and Sheriff Sharp went to Dayton Tuesday afternoon on behalf of the family to make inquiries concerning whereabouts. The sheriff was not investigating in his official capacity.

According to Mr. Burr, Mrs. Earley is reported to have said her husband had been acting queerly for two or three weeks but that she had no intimation of his intention

BUILDING WALLS NOT DAMAGED

To dispose of some unfounded rumors current following the recent disastrous fire adjacent to our building, we wish to make public the following report of our architects:

"The American Loan & Savings Ass., American Bldg., Dayton, Ohio, Gentlemen:

We have examined your building at the corner of Third and Main Streets with a view to finding any structural damage caused by the recent fire on the adjacent property.

We have examined the walls and do not find any cracks or other evidence of settlement or failure. We have also plumbed the southeast corner of the building which was exposed on two sides to the fire, and find that it is perfectly plumb and true. Had there been any settlement or shrinkage caused by the heat affecting the steel frame work, this corner would undoubtedly have been out of plumb and there would have been cracks in the walls.

We can, therefore, assure you that as far as the structure itself is concerned, there has been no material damage from the fire.

Yours very truly,
SCHENCK & WILLIAMS
(Signed), NELSON J. BELL,
Chief Engineer."

The American Building is of steel, fireproof construction. It is not supported by the brick walls and if they were all torn away it would still stand.

Had the entire building been destroyed, the security of our depositors would not have been impaired, as it is amply insured. Back of that stand our Safety and Surplus Funds, with which the building could be replaced.

CRIME CONDITIONS EFFECTING MANY IS REPORT OF LEAGUE

Conditions in some Xenia families who are in desperate circumstances on account of crime conditions were the basis of discussion at the monthly session of the Social Service League executive board, at City Hall, Monday night.

The League dealt with sixty-six unfortunate families during February, according to the report of Mrs. George C. Stokes, executive secretary. Causes of indigency were many and varied, she said, including illness, crime, unemployment, widows with small children, old age, divorce, lack of responsibility of child for parent and parent for child, injury, family too large for income.

"We are sorry to say some cases are general laziness and shiftlessness, yet these conditions combined with illness and helplessness children must be cared for," Mrs. Stokes told board members.

April 9 was fixed as the date for the annual Social Service League dinner and launching of the annual drive. Place and committees will be announced later.

Grocery orders were disbursed to twenty-five families at a cost of $87, during February and coal to nineteen families at a cost of $62. Also, $20 worth of coal was donated the league by a person in sympathy with the work.

Milk was given eleven families at a cost of $36.60. Medicine and dental service costing $5.10 was given six families. Household goods valued at $25.75 were given four families. Clothing and shoes, valued at $58 were given thirty families.

Ten dollars was received from sale of clothing during the month. Three hundred and fifty-three calls were received at the office. League co-operated with eleven city and two county organizations. One stranded case was cared for. Twenty-nine persons and five organizations made donations to the league in February.

Thirty-seven cases were under the care of Miss Jennie Moffett, public health nurse, reported. One hundred and eight calls were made by the nurse, besides school examination work, friendly, business and juvenile Court work. Four hundred and thirty-eight pages of literature were distributed during the month by Miss Moffett.

STRAWBERRIES AT 85 CENTS A QUART

Xenians who have had strawberry shortcake on their table already this season have indulged in an expensive as well as delicious luxury.

Strawberries have been on the local market about three weeks and have been of unusual quality considering the early season and extremely cold weather. Average retail price for the delectable berries has been eighty-five cents a quart.

Berries received here are shipped from Florida and have been difficult for fruit dealers to obtain. Owing to recent frosts in Florida, quality of the berries has been slightly affected, dealers say, and with the distance they must be shipped, has resulted in the high price.

CEDARVILLE GYM WILL BE ENLARGED

Actual work of remodeling and enlarging the Cedarville College gymnasium with the probability the seating capacity will be increased to accommodate 1,000 persons, is expected to begin soon, according to information disclosed by President W. R. McChesney.

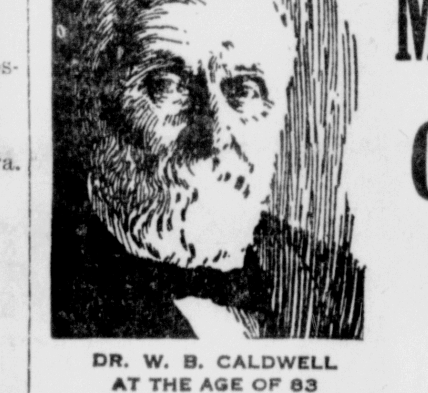

College faculty decided to hold an invitational basketball tournament at the college next year to dedicate the new gym, at a meeting Monday.

Tournament will be open to high school boys and girls' basketball teams from surrounding counties as well as Greene County, according to plans tentatively arranged. No date has been actually set.

BAND ON RADIO

Greenville High School Band, composed of forty-five pieces, will give the second annual concert at St. Clair Memorial Hall, Greenville, Friday evening, March 12, according to C. A. Waltz, Greenville City School Superintendent, former head of Xenia schools.

The band broadcasts from Station WLW, Cincinnati, Thursday night, March 18 from 9 to 10 o'clock.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seems cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary. In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it. Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.—Adv.

YANKS UNDERGOING REORGANIZATION AT TRAINING GROUNDS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 9.—The New York Yankees are undergoing a process of thorough reorganization at their training camp here.

Such progress is being made that Miller Huggins already is willing to venture the opinion that he has the makings of a first division club this year, while the players—particularly Babe Ruth—are certain they have such a team already.

The Babe, in better condition than he has been for years, thinks the Yankees will be back into the world's series after two years on the outside looking at the Washington Senators' performance. Huggins does not like to hear

"Confidence is to be desired," Huggins said, "but it isn't well to feel too sure. We learned that during the last two years."

Officials of the club believe that with Ruth ready to start in the first game and with Joe Dugan in better physical shape, the team is an improvement over last year. Ruth has worked himself into fine condition and Dugan seems to have recovered completely from the operation on his trick knee.

Success of the team will depend largely upon Tony Lazzari, slugging rookie from the Pacific Coast League and Mark Keonig, from the American Association who are to be tried at shortstop and second base. Lazzari has not been a sensation in the training camp but he has been told to take it slowly.

Erin Ward is also an infield possibility. He may win a regular berth from one of the two rookies at short or second base or he will be available for third base if anything happens to Dugan.

Buster Gerbig, who will handle first base, is also a youngster, but has had one season of good experience. The former Columbia star stepped in last year when Wally Pipp was hurt and did so well that Pipp couldn't get his job back when he recovered.

With Benny Gough and Pat Collins handling the catching, Huggins felt that Wally Schang will not be missed.

Collins came back to the majors from the American Association. The regular outfield, of course, will consist of Bob Muesel, who was expected to report today, Ruth and Earl Combs, with Ben Paschal ready for relief duty.

The officials expect a lot from Waite Hoyt, the former Brooklyn schoolboy, who is many pounds lighter this season and who seems to be in the best of shape.

Urban Shocker, Herb Pennock and Sam Jones are also ready for regular duty and Huggins has not decided on the young pitchers he will keep.

INGROWN NAIL Turns Right Out Itself

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so tenderizes the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.—Adv.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician
Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing result. Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.

THE GUMPS—THE BOOK LOVER

GIRL PREACHER IS AMAZING STUDENTS OF THEOLOGY, SAID

Old school theologians are paying homage here to the newest ecclesiastical prodigy—12 year old Dorcas Dudley.

Little Dorcas, who learned the gospel on her mother's knee, was asked to occupy the pulpit of the Four Square Gospel mission at Cleveland during the holidays.

The child's sermons, all extemporaneous and some times of more than an hour's duration, are being hailed as veritable masterpieces, with seemingly divine inspiration.

The little girl who astounds her audience and holds them spell-bound with her eloquence and power, heard her first simple excerpts from the scriptures when she was an infant.

The mother, Mrs. Leroy Dudley who can read the Bible to Dorcas and her two brothers when the children were tiny, said Dorcas was the only one who displayed a keen aptitude and understanding.

"But she has never been a systematic student of the scriptures," Mrs. Dudley told the United Press. "She hears and reads many philosophical quotations and parables, and then puts on her thinking cap."

The "thinking cap" has analyzed and placed remarkable constructions upon some passages of the scriptures, so startling discursive in fact, that the demand for the child preacher's services is becoming widespread.

Last summer Dorcas accompanied her grandparents, with whom she was living in Los Angeles, where she studied for three weeks at the Angelus Temple Bible school institution founded by Mrs. A. M. S. Temple McPherson, a noted healer.

It was there that the little girl received her first technical training for the ministry. On Thanksgiving day she preached in Cuyahoga Falls where the congregation gave her $100, the nucleus of a fund to educate her for the ministry.

FLYERS DEPEND ON THE DAILY WEATHER REPORT FOR SAFETY

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Army and navy aviators as well as those who carry the mails through the air receive a special meteorological service from the Weather Bureau and this daily service has undoubtedly saved the lives of many flyers.

Special accommodations are provided in the forecast room of the Weather Bureau here for representatives of the air service of the army and navy. Telegraphic weather reports come in twice a day to the forecast room from observing stations in all parts of the country and from Canada. As fast as they are received, representatives of military flying services copy on their charts any information important to aviators and telephone the route forecasts directly to certain flying fields. At times special service is asked for and received by fields undertaking some unusual flying feat.

Warmed Of Danger.

Conditions which are unusual or dangerous for flyers receive prompt attention at the Washington forecasting station and at each of the four district forecast centers, located at Chicago, New Orleans, Denver and San Francisco. Weather information, forecasts and warnings for the group of states comprised within a district are issued from these centers, always with aviation interests in mind. Direct service is given as conditions and facilities warrant. Local service is also rendered by officials at about 100 field stations of the Weather Bureau.

Weather Bureau experts point out that it is in connection with the hazards of flying that the most any aviator can do is to keep himself up to date on the latest weather information and warnings. They say that aviators frequently disregard warnings of approaching storms or other poor flying conditions believing themselves competent to fly in spite of unfavorable weather, just as a ship's captain may put out to sea fully armed with knowledge of bad conditions ahead, but sure of his ability to manage his vessel even though of being for better conditions than those predicted.

Radio Service Supplied.

Radio service is supplied twice daily for the benefit for marine and aviation interests on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. Weather bulletins and forecasts are broadcast from the naval radio station at Arlington, Va., at 10:30 a. m. and at 10:30 p. m. They consist of reports on surface conditions and upper air data based on the regular 8 a. m. and 8 p. m. observations of the Weather Bureau. These bulletins include any reports received too late for the regular morning or evening forecast and as a second feature summarize general atmospheric conditions, barometric readings at "high and low centers," wind and weather forecasts for offshore areas, storm warnings and flyingweather forecasts, for each of the six aviation zones. During the hurricane season additional ship reports are received by radio from the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean Sea and distributed an connection with this service.

Aviators flying in any of the three zones served by the special radio bulletins issued from the San Francisco radio station receive information about 9 a. m. on 5 o'clock observations of the same day; and at 7:30 p. m. based on 5 p. m. observations, except for taken at Alaska, Honolulu, Guam, Manila, China and Japan at slightly different hours.

Detailed Forecasts Made.

Specific and more detailed forecasts are made each morning and evening for definite flying routes, to supplement the zone forecasts distributed by radio. These routes include the model airway and many routes such as Washington to New York, Washington to Dayton, Dayton to Detroit.

Last year arrangements were made to provide special forecasts for the transcontinental air mail service, especially to aid night flying.

These forecasts are issued by the district forecasters at Chicago for two sections of the route. One is from Bryan, O., to Omaha and the other is from Omaha to Rock Springs, Wyoming. The forecasts and weather information are made available to both East and West bound fliers at Omaha.

A bottle containing a message that it had been dropped in the Mississippi River in May, 1925, was picked up at Plymouth, Mass., three months later after traveling several hundred miles a month.

"Honor thy father and thy mother — provided they are honorable" is the suggested revision of the fifth commandment of Canon Pritchard, of Rochester, N. Y.

Bobby Leach who went over Niagara Falls in a barrel without injury, slipped on a banana peel in New Zealand and broke his leg.

A New York girl, 23, appearing in court, asked a magistrate to send her to the House of Correction that she might be cured of the liquor habit that she was unable to conquer by her own will.

Army bombing planes in the canal zone have been equipped with whistles that blow in the rush of air from the birds flight. The whistles are intended to scare away hawks which attack the pigeons.

A stenographer who won a $500 prize in a contest in Omaha, specified that the money should be spent by the Jewish Community Center for dance music and bathing suits.

THE WASTE BASKET

OUR civilization is to be judged just as much by our waste-baskets as by our sky-scrapers. Indeed the musings of the great philosophers will be given over to this wide-mouthed receptacle of tagends just as much as to the more substantial and spectacular inventions and creations of man; it will inspire reflections not to be drawn from pyramids and subway tunnels and steam engines. The waste-basket is an institution universal and permanent. Thrones and altars may crumble, but all the frills and fineries of these vanishing works of man find their resting-place in the waste-basket. Empires flourish, and in the end come to nothing in the waste-basket of time. The waste-basket has outlived the inexorable laws of the Medes and Persians; it will remain at last to receive all the discarded hopes and strivings of mankind.

Human progress is to be understood only in the light of what is tossed thoughtlessly or dropped with a sigh into the waste-basket of the world. Their contents yesterday, today, and for all time to come, are the true index of human progress. It is by what we discard, as truly as by what we shall be judged.

The musing of the Great Philosopher on waste-basket is tinged with pathos. These ultimate repositories of human endeavor are often filled with fond aspirations come to naught; with hopes built on shifting sands, which ends of time spent of tasks bright in promise, but meagre in fulfillment. Unfinished labors of love are here, and scraps of endeavors which should never have been begun. These things discarded come from the hands of school children and teachers; from housewives and mothers; from artists and artisans; from princes and paupers and statesmen and prophets. And yet, the Great Philosopher will assure us, there is no need for discouragement. The hope which is grudgingly surrendered to the waste-basket beside the litter of a day, begets another plan, another dream, one less imperfect than those that went before. For it is by discarding the imperfect and ever building anew the civilization has supplanted savagery.

THE VANISHING ICEMAN

WITHIN the last year electric refrigeration has rapidly acquired a widespread importance through the linking up of co-operative effort between refrigeration manufacturers and electric power companies.

The great advantage of household electric refrigeration, are its automatic and steady operation, its ability to maintain lower temperature of dry cold with entire absence of moisture, drip and dirt, and its better conditioning of refrigerated food.

Parallel with household refrigeration has developed iceless storage of ice cream for confectionery stores, soda fountains and restaurants. The prospects for electric refrigeration extend even further and includes the florist and fine fruit trade, milk cooling, as well as certain processes of food manufacture.

Considering only the household market for electric refrigeration, the possibilities for this growing industry are enormous. Less than 1 per cent of the market has been sold, although unit sales have doubled each year for the last five years. With over 12,000,000 homes wired for electricity, the number of household electric refrigerators is expected to soon reach the washing machine figure which is nearly 4,000,000.

It is estimated that the iceless refrigeration units which will be manufactured this year, will require almost 30,000,000 pounds of copper.

OUR MELTING EARTH

THE earth's crust, says Prof. Joly of the University of Dublin isn't getting cooler, as is commonly supposed. It's getting hotter. And in something like 30,000,000 or 40,000,000 or 50,000,000 years, the continents are going to crack open and most of their present area is going to be submerged by this molten lava pouring up through.

Then, says the professor, the substratum will slowly cool, and the continents will rise up and take shape again, vegetation and animal life will reassert themselves, and life will proceed as before.

The disquieting thing about it is that this very catastrophe seems to have happened many times in the past, as the rock records show, though ordinarily it has been attributed to the cooling rather than the heating of the crust.

Still, the race may as well be broiled as frozen. And in all probability, we won't be here to feel the heat.

OLD-FASHIONED
TABLECLOTH BACK

LONDON, Mar. 9.—The old-fashioned tablecloth is returning to favour in Mayfair and Belgrave.

For the last ten years Bond Street has been selling small table-mats of linen and lace, or the larger mat of a size to fit the dining-table exactly; but this year there is once more a demand for the wide spread of double damask with hanging ends on all four sides.

PAINESVILLE, O., Mar. 9.—(UP)—A three day Food and Household Appliance show, held under the auspices of the local Kiwanis club will open here tomorrow.

The exhibit will occupy the Carnegie block here, and all sorts of food-making and labor-saving home devices are to be shown.

canned variety may be used if desired), and one cup of sliced ripe bananas. Now in another bowl put one cup of cold "double" cream; whip it till stiff, then fold into it one cupful of Mayonnaise salad dressing (the bottled Mayonnaise, such as grocery stores sell, is splendid for this use). Last, fold in two teaspoons of granulated gelatin which you have previously soaked for several minutes in two tablespoons of cold water and then melted over hot water. Fold the fruit into this whipped cream mixture, and pack at once in a can. Cover tightly and freeze, using two parts of ice to one part of salt. (Of course you may vary the three cups of fruit in this recipe to suit yourself, substituting sliced peaches, for instance, for any of the above mentioned fruits, or putting in cherries, red currants, or other red fruit for color.)

Get a bottle of Kolor-Bak and use as directed. This wonderful preparation is not sticky or messy to apply—just a clean, colorless, pleasant liquid almost like water. But it has the remarkable power to restore any gray hair to its natural shade. Kolor-Bak does not change the hair coloring instantly, as do ordinary dyes. It works more gradually, yet a week often suffices to accomplish desired results. And while restoring the color, it also acts as a tonic, ridding dandruff and giving the hair a lustrous, soft texture.

Greene County History

FIRST INFIRMARY

First infirmiry in Greene County was erected in 1829 on a tract of land situated on the Dayton Pike one and one-half miles west of Xenia, two years after legislative action was taken in Ohio granting counties the right to establish institutions to care for the aged.

Contract for the building was let to George W. Stipp for $490.50 June 26, 1829. Building was composed of brick, sixty feet long, sixteen feet wide with a ceiling eight feet high.

The tract purchased was located on both sides of the pike dividing it into two parts of almost equal size. Site of the building was north of the road and immediately to the rear of the site of the old building once used for the County Children's Home before the present structure was erected.

It was built in this remote spot due to the fact water could be obtained here in abundance and with convenience. A spring house and smoke house were erected near the main building in 1830 at a cost of $54.50.

George Townsley, William McKnight and George Galloway were appointed first directors of the infirmiry by County Commissioners.

William Ellis, Quaker, was appointed first superintendent with an annual salary of $250.

He was ordered to equip the institution with "four short-posted bedsteads and cots, three feather beds and one of chaff or straw; three blankets for each bed; two pillows and a bolster for each; one large square table and one small one and three arm chairs, plain, split-bottom."

Ellis reserved the right to send his children to school, four at a time for three months, since he was the father of seven.

Just Folks

BY EDGAR A. GUEST

READING TO A LITTLE GIRL
Reading to a little girl,
Well, I'll tell you, there's a chore!
Nursery rhymes, a thousand times
I have read them o'er and o'er.
Here and there and everywhere
Following the little bear.

Peter Rabbit, line by line,
I have read it from the start,
Fast and slow, till we know
Every word of it by heart.
Still she climbs upon my knee,
Pleading, "Read this book to me."

Fairy stories, old and new,
Hour by hour I've sat and read,
Worn with age, and torn the page
Stained with jam and buttered bread,
But she loves them, and she knows
Just how every story goes.

Mother reads until she's tired,
Then she packs her off to me.
When I doze, straight back she goes.
With the book to mother's knee.
Here, I'd tell you, should you ask,
Is a never-ending task.

Today's Talk

DREAMS

A boy writes to his father and asks: "Do you think that dreams can come true in your heart alone?"

And I write to that boy and say: "No, boy, dreams can come true far and wide outside the heart. They are born in the heart, warmed there, as a baby is warmed under a mother's heart, and then the world sees them in reality—in buildings, cities, states, inventions, great books, thrilling events, and in finer human beings."

Dreams are of the essence of stars. There is a great deal of mystery to every dream. And it is this substance which drives a man on and which clothes the dream, later to warm its life in great enterprises.

I have always liked the Good-night saying plus "pleasant dreams." As though in darkness we rested and grew in strength that light and life anew with the morning might bring us a colorful hope, a heart steered for effort and a desire to be more useful than the day before.

Where would we be if we couldn't, if we didn't dream?

As a boy, F. Hopkinson Smith used to play with a little boat in a tub. As a man he planted great light-houses on the rocky coasts of eastern America which have guided and led many a ship safely into port.

They laughed at Napoleon at his school on the island of Corsica. He was shy and quiet. But he wasn't shy and quiet when he led the armies of Europe. It was Hugo who said that God had to enter the arena in order to restore the world after the devastation of so restless a man. Merely dreams of the shy boy come true in action. What a changed world if those dreams had only come true in a different way!

The great state of Florida is being developed, not by real estate dealers, but by dreamers. The day of the real estate dealer, who lives for quick profit alone, passes. But the day of the dreamer comes with the great state, the better place in which to live—and a higher breed of men who leave an inspiring path behind them through which the following generations may walk.

Never discount dreams. They are the substance of life itself. And perhaps of Heaven!

MODISH MITZI—Mitzi Works Her Will Power Overtime By JAY V. JAY

Mitzi: as been reading all about will over—how to have it, how to exert it, how to develop it 15 minutes a day. In the morning comes one of the big tests. She has an appointment at eleven o'clock, and she is tell herself that "she will be there." It's high time she started dressing for it—her pajama negligee is charming, but hardly suitable for street wear.

Only ten minutes to slip on her dress and adjust her cape. Never before has Mitzi hurried quite so rapidly in her dressing. There's hardly time to see the flounce that ripple from the shoulder, curves around the waist and flows into the skirt. The neck is a mere ribbon. The cape is short and circular.

Every minute of the way is beset with temptations. The formula for will power development may be simple, but Mitzi finds it extremely difficult. It's taken 40 minutes to get this far toward meeting her appointment. Not that it required so long a time to slip into this charming brassiere and undy combination, but a certain amount of admiration is due it.

Mitzi is making history. It is exactly 10:55, which leaves her five minutes to get where she is going. It will probably be the first time in all her fashionable existence that she has been less than a half hour late. In this costume, almost any one would feel that tardiness was excusable. Mitzi's will power is working, and she will make it, overtime.

"Not Possible To Classify"

By Mack Sauer

THE MODERN BELLE

The daughter sits in the parlor,
And rocks on her easy chair,
She is dressed in silks and satins
And jewels are in her hair;
She winks, and giggles and simpers,
And simpers and giggles and winks;
And though she talks but little
It's vastly more than she thinks.

Her father goes clad in russet—
All dirty and seedy at that;
His coat is out at the elbows,
And he wears a shocking bad hat.
He is hoarding and saving his dollars,
So carefully, day by day,
While she on her whims and fancies
Is squandering them all away.

She lies in bed of a morning
Until the hour of noon,
Then comes down snapping and snarling
Because she's called too soon.
Her hair is still in papers,
Her cheeks still dabbed with paint—
Remains of last night's blushes
Before she attempted to faint.

Her feet are so very little,
Her hands are so very white,
Her jewels are so very heavy,
And her head is so very light;
Her color is made of cosmetics—
Tho this she'll never admit;
Her body is mostly cotton,
And her heart is wholly stone.

She falls in love with a fellow
Who swells with a foreign air;
He marries her for her money,
She marries him for his hair.
One of the very best matches,
Both are well matched in life;
She's got a fool for a husband,
And he's got a fool for a wife.

Wait a minute! Wait a minute! I didn't write that. I found it in an old book, published more than 60 years ago. What I want to know is who can write a parody on this poem and give us the dope on the modern girl of today. I'll print the best poem within a few days that is submitted and will give $1 for it. Think of it. A whole dollar.

So this is March. Where's that groundhog? Thousands stayed home all day and read the ads on this page. And they like them. Phone 111 tomorrow.

TOWN PUMP STARTS YIELDING GAS BUT DRILL IS FAILURE

JAMESTOWN, N. D., March 9.—Perversity of the old town well at Robinson, 75 miles northwest of here which suddenly started yielding oil where only water was desired or expected, and persistence of more recently drilled wells which refuse despite prayers and exhortations to produce anything but pure water, has created considerable dissatisfaction with nature in this corner of North Dakota.

For twenty years the old town well at Robinson, a cavern 600 feet deep, provided a never-failing supply of clear, cold water. It was the best drinking well in the village and 500 inhabitants depended upon it.

But one day the bucket emerged from the well containing a liquid contaminated with a foreign substance later identified as oil. The contamination continued with increasing intensity until finally it was the purest mixture of gasoline and petroleum ever found in the United States.

The brown fluid tested 62.8 percent. Only twice before in American oil history had petroleum in its natural state attained a test of 60 percent. Geologists called upon to investigate said Robinson's oil supply filtered through a formation of quicksand and alkali which accounted for its unusual purity.

The oil continued to form a coating over the water in the town well and ruined utterly the formerly faithful source of supply. Many residents bemoaned the condition. But foreigners, with little interest in the quality of Robinson's water, reacted differently to the news of oil where only water had been before, all projects started immediately to appear.

Notable among the ventures launched was that of A. C. Townley, organizer and head of the Non-partisan league during its political heyday. On a five-acre tract near Robinson he caused to be erected a derrick towering eighty-five feet into the air and around it a fifteen foot board fence.

It was rumored outside the inaccessible enclosure that $20,000 worth of casing and equipment was at the foot of the $5,000 derrick and that Townley was spending a total of $100,000 in his effort to tap the source of contamination of the Robinson town well.

Thus far, however, there has been no report of oil anywhere in the state except what accumulates in the well. Only pure water has been discovered under the crust of earth in Robinson and its environs. Other projects than those already started are planned. Hope for those to come and annoyance with those already started runs high.

crease of $120 in the matron's yearly income. Commissioners aim to reduce expenses of the infirmity in this manner, it is said.

Superintendent Crow declared that while "he has no criticism to offer" regarding action of commissioners in enlarging the farm acreage of the institution, he felt it would be better to resign than undertake the additional responsibility.

He pointed out the superintendent should devote practically his entire time to the internal organization of the institution to obtain best results. Under the additional duties which would be imposed, burdensome duties would also be forced upon Mrs. Crow as matron, he said.

Superintendent and Mrs. Crow will live temporarily after April 1 in an apartment on E. Main St. The superintendent has not decided upon future business activities.

Mr. Crow has been superintendent at the infirmity for the past three years. He was appointed March 1, 1923 under civil service to succeed Matt S. Smith, who resigned January 27, 1923. Mrs. Crow became matron at the same time.

The superintendent was formerly in charge of the Xenia Work House, joint county and city penal institution, for sixteen and one-half years during which time the institution gained the reputation of being one of the best managed in this section of the state.

He served continuously until July 1, 1915 and in September of the same year was appointed Xenia ticket agent for the Dayton, Springfield and Xenia Southern Railway Co., a position he held until his appointment as infirmity superintendent.

Under direction of the state department of public welfare, division of charities, and Mr. Crow, a steady campaign of repair and improvement was begun by commissioners several years ago to bring the institution up to standards of sanitation and order.

Extensive improvements were made in painting and decoration of the interior of the main building.

Superintendent Crow served continuously as head of the institution for three years with exception of about one month in December, 1924 when commissioners made an effort to oust him on grounds of irregularities and poor conditions at the home.

He was later reinstated by the civil service commission.

County infirmity under supervision of Mr. Crow made an especially enviable record for the year ending August 31, 1924.

Statistics revealed by the Ohio Welfare Department disclosed the local infirmity expenses were $11.34 per capita less than the average per capita for such institutions in the state. Average cost was placed at $28.75 per capita annually.

HAIRS OF YOUR HEAD NUMBERED SAUER TELLS CLASS OF BALD-HEADED MEN

By MACK SAUER

I will take a very polished subject to write about this morning—the bald heads of Xenia. I trust it will not go over YOUR head.

"Gentlemen, the very hairs of your heads are numbered," I said to the Men's Class of Rev. Tiltford's Church a few Sundays ago, never even dreaming of referring to the bald heads in the class. But several of those with dazzling pates thought I was referring to their glistening domes. Cautiously and with trembling palms they lifted their hands and ran them over their shining knobs, slippery from soap and water, and many of them were able to count what they found without going into double digits.

I was quite embarrassed by the situation and, to get myself at ease, I suggested that we sing a song. Looking through the hymnal hurriedly, I found an old familiar ballad I liked very much.

"Gentlemen," said I, "let us sing 'When the Roll is Called Up Yonder'."

One man whose head is almost as smooth and shining as the marble top of a cafeteria table, didn't take the suggestion any to well. He thought I was hinting at calling the roll of the hairs on the heads present.

Another just being missed being classed in the bald headed class by a hair's breadth. But he joined in the singing, as did many of the other men.

One boy whose head resembled a rabbit, made me say to myself: "There is a man with but a single hair."

Continuing with the lesson, I

Rash. Cuticura Healed.

"I suffered with eczema for about a year. It first broke out on my face and hands in a rash and was very annoying. It itched and burned terribly, and I could hardly wash my face. The irritation kept me awake at night."

"I tried several remedies but nothing seemed to do it any good. I heard about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and purchased some. After using a week I got relief so purchased more, and after using three boxes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." thought I detected the presence of some unusual phenomena of light. I found that it was only the expansive refugence diffused from the glistening pates of those before me.

Looking down on the different heads in the class, with here a patch of red, there a dome of black, and so on, the scene reminded me of the old-fashioned crazy quilt. Only no crazy quilt ever had so many beaming patches of white in it as I saw there.

After the lesson was discussed, the reports read, announcements given, and the usual quota of business attended to, I asked for a closing hymn to be suggested. Mayor John Prugh, who occupied a front seat, responded with, "Let's sing, 'Count Your Blessings.'"

forgot that incorporation matter, incidentally, I'll see my lawyer about it tomorrow."

They went back to the office building afterward, but it was locked. Blake had no key to the street door. There was a watchman, but they couldn't find him anywhere.

"If that isn't luck!" Blake said, disgustedly. "Of course he'd be off somewhere tonight, just because we want him." Mary did not remind him that they should have remembered to look up the watchman before they went out and say that they would be back later. "If I lived in town we could go to my house, but it's clear out in Montrose. Well, there goes our evening's work. I guess."

"We could work in my room," Mary suggested. "I have sort of a little apartment, with another girl; we could work there."

She telephoned the rooming house and told Celia that they were coming. Blake took a taxi, and then had to borrow some of the money from Mary to pay for it. He puffed a little as they climbed the stairs, but when Mary threw open the living-room door the room looked so charming that he declared it was worth the climb.

Celia had bought flowers for the bowl on the chest of drawers, and for a vase that stood on her desk. She was sitting at the desk, writing, when they came in, under a softly shaded lamp, and looked up shyly when Mary brought Stanley Blake over to her side.

She had put on a pink dress, one that she wore sometimes when she wanted to dress up. It was very becoming. Her hair fell in soft little curls about her face. Mary felt suddenly very awkward, and messy. She wished that she could slip away and put on a clean blouse, and wash her face and hands, but that would never do, she told herself. Blake would want to get to work at once.

If he did, he made no effort to

PROPT RESIGNS; THREE INSPECTORS SUSPENDED

GOVERNOR DONAHEY SCORES METHODS OF OHIO ENFORCEMENT

Arraigns Propst For High Handed Means In Raids

By United Press
COLUMBUS, O., March 9.—State Prohibition Commissioner B. F. McDonald today suspended for thirty days Prohibition Inspectors Carl Selzer, J. B. Coulter and Fred Curtis.

Suspensions were made on the recommendation of Gov. Vic Donahey who has just completed an investigation of law enforcement methods in use in the dry department.

In addition to the suspensions, the dismissal of Deputy State Commissioner S. A. Propst, was recommended. Propst, storm center of the inquiry when confronted with the recommendation, submitted his resignation, effective March 23.

Immediately after announcing the suspensions, McDonald announced the appointment of W. D. Jones of Columbus, as acting deputy commissioner, succeeding Propst. Jones is known as a "sane enforcement officer."

The "housecleaning" in the department, it was said, will be accompanied by what is expected to be a marked change in policies in enforcement of the prohibition law.

A permanent successor for Propst will not be appointed immediately, McDonald said.

The governor also denounced the use of women to entrap suspected law violators, "as moral crimes of reprehensible character."

The governor expressed astonishment "that such high handed tactics could happen in America such as Propst firing on an automobile occupied by innocent persons."

In addition, the executive ordered that private homes shall not be invaded by dry agents in the future "except after most careful inquiry" and with an abundance of corroborative evidence; that the prohibition department must limit its activities mainly to the apprehension and prosecution of manufacturers and transporters; inspectors in the future must work with local officials to see that the local officials are doing their duty and report derelictions of duty to the prohibition department; that the motto "respect for law is in exact proportion to his honest enforcement" be observed.

The governor scathingly assailed Propst, declaring his actions on several raids has not only been "unjustifiable but indefensible."

"I appreciate that he has been well intentioned and energetic but in his eagerness to enforce the law he has trampled on the rights of innocent people and has resorted to means that in good conscience cannot be defended," the executive declared demanding Propst's dismissal.

McDonald was completely exonerated.

In summarizing his investigation the governor said the evidence concerning the Westerville raid, "shows that at the direction of Propst, a attempt was made to entrap Nutt through the lure of a woman whose reported conversation and overtures in planning the arrangement were sordid and revolting."

Condemning such methods the governor added:

"We need not resort to frame ups in the enforcement of prohibition. We do not want in the state department, officers who, in the name of the state, stoop to add the aurement of sex to a planned entrapment for a liquor law violation."

Propst and Curtis were scathingly arraigned for firing on the automobile driven by Harold Jackson of Springfield, as he and his wife and child were returning from the country late in August. Believing the officers were bandits, Jackson refused to heed their command to halt. The officers punctured the tires with bullets.

"The lives of an innocent man, woman and child were endangered and property destroyed at the mere whim of suspicion," the governor said.

"The terrorized family was left stranded on a road at night as the officers continued on their way. That such high-handed tactics could happen in America is almost unthinkable."

The raid made by officers led by Propst at the home of two aged sisters in London on February 13, was declared to have been unwarranted.

"The evidence in this case is voluminous and somewhat conflicting but there is no doubt in my mind that the search was uncalled for and unwarranted," Donahey said.

In contrast to the methods resorted to by Propst the governor outlined specifically his views of the duties of the dry department.

"Homes should not be invaded except after careful inquiry," he said.

DIVINING ROD WILL BE USED TO TRACE FIVE BELIEVED DROWNED

Canadian Who Claims Ability To Find Bodies Under Water Is Summoned In Search For
Phipps Family

LEAMINGTON, Ont., Mar. 9.—Search for five missing members of the James Phipps family of Leamington, who are believed to have lost their lives in an automobile plunge through the ice of Lake Erie a week ago, will be actively resumed tomorrow with the arrival here of Charles Neal, of Western, Ont., friends of the family said today.

Neal it was said, claims the ability to locate bodies submerged in water by means of a "V" shaped piece of copper wire similar to the "V" shaped wooden divining rod used in certain raimless sections to find veins of water for wells.

Edward Mitchell a neighbor of the family, today denied a report that the five bodies had been found, explaining it was believed to have resulted from a radio announcement that Neal claimed he had been successful in finding bodies by his copper wire method.

Two bodies were found by Neal, more than a year ago.

COUNTY INFIRMARY HEAD PRESENTS HIS RESIGNATION HERE

Superintendent Crow
Gives Up Office—Salary May Be Cut

By United Press
Resignation of D. E. Crow, superintendent of the Greene County Infirmary, was accepted by County Commissioners Monday afternoon, effective April 1, 1926.

Plans for naming his successor will be immediately formulated and a date is expected to be set soon by the State Civil Service Commission for an examination of applicants for the position.

Mrs. Crow, who has served as matron at the infirmary during the administration of her husband also severs association with the institution.

Resignation was voluntary upon the part of Mr. Crow, who declared he would be unwilling to assume the additional responsibility of superintending farming of added lands as a result of action of commissioners in purchasing 160 acres of the former Moore-Putbaugh farm with the view of extending the farm acreage of the infirmary and County Children's Home.

Simultaneously with the announcement of acceptance of the resignation of Superintendent Crow came action of commissioners in introducing a formal resolution reducing annual salary of superintendent of the infirmary to $840 per year and that of matron, to $600 a year, effective April 1. The resolution has not been passed.

Proposed reduction would be a decrease in the superintendent's salary of $360 per year and a de-

JURY NEARLY READY TO TRY MURDERER

PHILADELPHIA, March 9.—Completion of the jury to try David L. Marshall, chiropractor, for the murder of his sweetheart, Anna May Dietrich was expected before noon today in the second day of Marshall's battle to escape the electric chair.

Eight men remain to fill the jury box, four having been chosen after numerous challenges by both sides.

With the jury sworn in the prosecution was to immediately open its case.

According to attaches of the prosecutors office, ample evidence is at hand to show that Marshall, who confessed he choked Anna Dietrich to death and then dismembered her body in fear of exposure of his dual life, was guilty of first degree murder.

Marshall came to the courtroom today with the same calm and unflinching demeanor that characterized his appearance yesterday.

COMPANY WINS IN

COLUMBUS, O., Mar. 9.—The Lakeview Park Co., does not have to build a swimming pool, dance pavilion and auditorium in Fostoria for the construction of which Frank W. Simmonds claims to have a contract. The Supreme Court today overruled an appeal by Simmonds in his action to carry out the contract.

It developed during the trial in the Common Pleas Court at Fostoria that the contract for the building was signed by a "Harry J. Sommers, vice president and general manager" of the Lakeview Park Company.

Evidence at the trial disclosed the fact that there is no general manager of the company and that "Sommers was not authorized" to sign any contract.

PETS TAKE PLACE OF SLAYERS IN HOME

HAVANA, O., Mar. 9.—An airedale dog and a common alley cat will take the place in the home here of James and Leonard Lyons, captured yesterday for the murder of Detective Frank McGrath.

"And they won't hurt nobody," says George Lyons, father of the slayers.

"I'm glad they got 'em," said the old man as he sat by the tiny coal stove in the barn-like farm house with his dog and cat for companions.

"They're hard 'uns, those boys are and they won't find me hanging around to say howdy when they bring 'em home. I haven't eaten or slept much since this thing happened."

"I knew that somebody was going to get hurt if they tried to arrest Jim. Jim told me after he got out of that Bowling Green scrape that if they ever tried to arrest him again, some one was going to die."

"I'm always has been a good boy and never got into scrapes. Guess he hob-nobbed around with Jim too much."

"But Duke and Tubby and me can get along all right, without 'em," the father said.

NILES KLAN PARADE
PLANNED IN SPITE
OF MANY WARNINGS

Will Parade With or Without Permit Says
Spokesman

By United Press
NILES, O., March 9.—Scoffing warnings that a parade may precipitate a riot similar to the one last year in which twenty-seven men were wounded with a National Guard ordered out, the Niles Ku Klux Klan today announced a huge demonstration would be held here May 29.

Klanmen from throughout the country will be here for the demonstration, F. M. Cox, official spokesman for the county organization told the United Press, adding that preparations for a gigantic parade are under way.

Questioned as to whether he believed a permit for the demonstration will be granted, Cox declared: "If Niles is in America, we will parade. We can parade with or without a permit."

Cox has been cautioned a demonstration parade may result disastrously. Three times the Klan has attempted to parade here and in each instance, anti-Klan forces launched a counter-demonstration.

On the last occasion a series of riots threw the town into turmoil. Battles were fought in the streets, sticks and stones were hurled and order was not restored until martial law was declared and National Guard troops were rushed to the scene.

James, who was driving made a desperate effort to turn the machine. Burns and his volunteers, converged on them from all angles. "Hold your fire, don't shoot" the boys shouted.

NORWALK, O., Mar. 9.—County Prosecutor C. C. Martin, left here today for Alpena, Mich., where he will make legal arrangements for returning James and Leonard Lyons to Ohio.

The brothers were indicted Friday on a charge of first degree murder and shooting to kill, for the murder of Frank McGrath of Cleveland, detective for the American Railway Express Co.

PARIS, Mar. 9.—Edouard Herriot today refused President Doumergue's invitation to form a cabinet and Aristide Briand was designated to attempt the task.

BY BLAST IN WEST VIRGINIA SHAFT

ECLES, W. Va., March 9.—Two shafts of the Crab Orchard Improvement Company were wrecked during the night by an explosion which sent clouds of poisonous gas from the mine.

One man is known to have been killed. Twenty-seven miners are believed still entombed in No. 5 shaft, while forty have been rescued from No. 6. The fate of the imprisoned men is as yet unknown.

State and federal mine rescue workers arrived early today and kept back from the number five shaft a crowd of relatives of the entombed miners.

Rescue operations were organized and it was believed the miners would be reached some time during the forenoon.

The dead man was taken from No. 6 shaft where he had been crushed in a passage way by the crumbling walls.

Of the thirty-eight men first rescued from No. 6, several were suffering from the effects of gas. It is believed all will recover. The last two to be rescued were behind a pile of debris, patiently awaiting aid.

The fate of the imprisoned men is believed by mine officials to depend upon the distance separating the workers from the passageway in which the explosion occurred. Thus far there has been no sign

SLAYERS CAPTURED IN MICHIGAN AFTER SHOOTING OFFICER

Lyons Brothers Admit
Murder After Arrest

By United Press
ALPENA, Mich., March 9.—Captured after a spectacular automobile chase in which Police Chief Douglas McKenzie was shot and wounded, James and Leonard Lyons, wanted in Norwalk, Ohio for the murder of Frank McGrath, American Railway Express detective at Havana, were under arrest here today. They will be returned to Ohio immediately.

The brothers were captured after a twelve mile chase in which James, the elder, shot McKenzie. The police chief was in a serious condition this morning.

After a severe grilling, James admitted he shot McGrath at Havana.

McKenzie came upon the boys on a street here. The brothers, living up to their reputation as "two gun bad men" whipped out revolvers, fired at McKenzie, leaped into an automobile and fled.

Scores of farmers, deputy sheriffs, police and American Legion volunteers took part in the chase but only Deputy Charles Burns and three aides participated in the actual capture.

When surrounded by Burns and his aides, the boys surrendered without firing a shot.

The curiosity of Alpena citizens resulted in the capture of the boys who had successfully evaded police since the killing of McGrath several weeks ago.

Attention was first drawn to the boys when they abandoned an automobile on the outskirts of the city taking with them, a number of bundles.

Nearly residents became suspicious and notified McKenzie. As the brothers approached the business district, McKenzie approached them from the rear, Leonard was walking several steps behind his brother.

McKenzie ran past Leonard and grabbed the bundle on James' shoulder, then ordered both boys to give an explanation of where they were going.

James responded with two bullets, the second striking McKenzie in the neck. As the officer stumbled and fell, Leonard whipped out a gun and fired. Then both boys fled.

Prestons pursued them until the brothers leaped into an automobile and headed out of town. A general alarm was sounded and soon the entire countryside was on the lookout for the boys.

Farmers armed with shotguns took up positions in the snow filled roads waiting for the appearance of the machine.

At Lachine, Burns received word of the escape. Burns recruited three business men and they blocked the main road into Lachine with automobiles. A truck sped down the road and stopped at the barricade. A few moments later the machine carrying the Lyons boys, sped down the highway at break-neck speed.

Perceiving the cars parked across the roadway, the boys ran their machine into a snow bank.

James, who was driving made a desperate effort to turn the machine. Burns and his volunteers, converged on them from all angles. "Hold your fire, don't shoot" the boys shouted.

NORWALK, O., Mar. 9.—County Prosecutor C. C. Martin, left here today for Alpena, Mich., where he will make legal arrangements for returning James and Leonard Lyons to Ohio.

The brothers were indicted Friday on a charge of first degree murder and shooting to kill, for the murder of Frank McGrath of Cleveland, detective for the American Railway Express Co.

PEKING ISOLATED
BY CIVIL BATTLE

PEKING, March 9.—Peking today was cut off from mail and freight communication with the outside world. The isolation results from the battle around the Taku forts, near Tien Tsin, where Kuomintang troops and a force representing the coalition of Marshal Chang Tso Lin, Wu Pei Fu and Li Ching Lin are hotly engaged.

Marshal Feng Yu Hsianglin, Kuomintang commander who controls the Peking area, boldly defied the Boxer protocol by notifying pilots that no vessels would be permitted to pass the forts, thus closing the last outside mail and freight connections with Peking and Tien Tsin. The forts fired on pilot vessels before notifying the pilots of the new order.

Since the explosion seems to have been concentrated in the No. 5 shaft, little hope was held out today that the twenty-seven men entombed were alive.

The men entombed were working in the No. 5 entry while those rescued were at No. 6 shaft.

IS DIVORCED

MRS. F. D. SCOTT, in her successful suit in Michigan for divorce from her representative husband at Washington, told of strange goings-on in the Washington social world. The names of seventy national figures were introduced in the testimony.

The note did not say whether he ever intended to return to his home.

Belief that he has determined to leave this part of the country to recuperate his fortune is strengthened by a letter mailed from Dayton which reached Bowersville Tuesday noon instructing Herbert T. Fisher, cashier of the Bowersville Bank, to close up his affairs.

His disappearance was reported to Sheriff Morris Sharp Tuesday. No official steps have been taken to trace the man.

Members of the Jamestown Masonic Lodge and Sheriff Sharp went to Dayton Tuesday afternoon on behalf of the family to make inquiries concerning whereabouts. The sheriff was not investigating in his official capacity.

According to Mr. Burr, Mrs. Earley is reported to have said her husband had been acting queerly for two or three weeks but that she had no intimation of his intention to leave home.

Financial worries are attributed by Mr. Burr to his sudden action.

Mr. Earley's older son, Eldon, student in the Cincinnati Law School, Cincinnati, was notified of his father's disappearance by Mr. Burr Monday and returned home. A second son is a pupil in the grade schools at Jamestown.

Bank officials are said to have told relatives the financial situation blamed for his disappearance could have been adjusted by slight trouble. Debts which he has been comparatively also.

Members of his immediate family are expected to turn up at the two elevators.

The elevators themselves were only lost by the owners and were not the property of the missing man.

DEAD IN SATCHEL

STREATOR, Ill., Mar. 9.—Bodies of twin boys not more than a week old when they died were found in a satchel in a locker at the railroad station and turned over to Coroner Lyston Howe today for investigation.

The gruesome discovery was made when the stench of the bodies attracted the station agent and the locker was forced open.

Inside the locker was found a large black satchel. It was opened and disclosed the two little bodies wrapped in cloth and apparently suffocated at least three weeks ago. Examination of the bodies indicated they had been no more than one week old when they were stuffed into the suitcase.

There were no marks of identification on the satchel and authorities are at a loss to explain the apparent double murder. There has been no record of the birth of twin boys in Streator that might correspond with the discovery.

MACREADY WILL TRY ALTITUDE FLIGHT

MCCOOK FIELD, DAYTON, O., March 9.—Unless unforeseen difficulties arise Lieut. John Macready, nationally known army aviator, will attempt to recapture the world's altitude record today.

Ideal atmospheric conditions were prevailing at an early hour and Macready believed he would make the attempt. The present record of 39,586 feet is held by Callizo, the French ace.

Macready will pilot a plane especially designed for altitude flying.

DISAPPEARS DUE TO FINANCIAL TROUBLE RELATIVES BELIEVE

D. L. Earley, Elevator
Owner, Being Sought
By Lodge

Thought to have been despondent because he believed himself on the verge of a financial crisis, Daniel Lee Earley, 40, Jamestown, owner and manager of grain elevators at Rosemore, east of Jamestown and at New Jasper, disappeared from his home Monday.

According to Charles M. Burr, Jamestown, his brother-in-law, Earley was driven to Xenia in a truck by an employee of the New Jasper mill Monday morning at 8 o'clock from where he is believed to have gone to Dayton.

He left a short note in the care of the mill hand to be delivered to his wife, Mrs. Bertha Earley, in which he announced he would keep on going until he found a job and then probably go to work, as he was a failure.

The note did not say whether he ever intended to return to his home.

Belief that he has determined to leave this part of the country to recuperate his fortune is strengthened by a letter mailed from Dayton which reached Bowersville Tuesday noon instructing Herbert T. Fisher, cashier of the Bowersville Bank, to close up his affairs.

CLASS B TOURNEY WILL START THURSDAY INSTEAD OF FRIDAY

Due to the large entry list, the southwestern Ohio regional Class B basketball tournament will begin at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon instead of Friday morning at the fairground coliseum in Dayton, it is announced.

Thirty-one teams are entered making Dayton regional meet the largest in the state. It was found that more than two days will be required for teams to reach the finals Saturday night.

Xenia East High School will play Jefferson in the first round Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock with Bath Twp. High, Greene County's second representative in the tourney taking the floor against Blancheville Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

No change was made in the original schedule of pairings of teams.

By re-arranging the schedule, cage fans will be able to witness the finals in both the Class A and Class B division at 8 and 9 o'clock Saturday night instead of at near midnight.

Semi-finals start Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock in Class B with Class A semi-final battles slated to begin at 3 and 4 p. m.

Xenia order of Ku Klux Klan is sponsoring a high school basketball tournament at the Klan tabernacle in Xenia March 27, it is announced.

It is proposed to hold the tournament on only one day, Saturday, unless the entry list is so heavy that an extra day will be needed to play the required number of games. In that event the last few rounds would be continued until the following Saturday.

All Greene County high schools are eligible to enter boys' teams and all entries should be addressed to George Fudge, this city.

Tournament is set for late in March so as not to conflict with various county and regional state meets.

CRIME CONDITIONS EFFECTING MANY IS REPORT OF LEAGUE

Conditions in some Xenia families who are in desperate circumstances on account of crime conditions were the basis of discussion at the monthly session of the Social Service League executive board, at City Hall, Monday night.

The League dealt with sixty-six unfortunate families during February, according to the report of Mrs. George C. Stokes, executive secretary. Causes of indigency were many and varied, she said, including illness, crime, unemployment, widows with small children, old age, divorce, lack of responsibility of child for parent and parent for child, injury, family too large for income.

"We are sorry to say some cases are general laziness and shiftlessness, yet these conditions combined with illness and helplessness children must be cared for," Mrs. Stokes told board members.

April 9 was fixed as the date for the annual Social Service League dinner and launching of the annual drive. Place and committees were announced later.

Grocery orders were disbursed to twenty-five families at a cost of $87, during February and coal to nineteen families at a cost of $62. Also, $20 worth of coal was donated the league by a person in sympathy with the work.

Milk was given eleven families at a cost of $36.60. Medicine and dental service costing $5.10 were given six families. Household goods valued at $25.75 were given four families. Clothing and shoes, valued at $58 were given thirty families.

Ten dollars was received from sale of clothing during the month. Three hundred and fifty-three calls were received at the office. League co-operated with eleven city and two county organizations. One stranded case was cared for. Twenty-nine persons and five organizations made donations to the league in February.

Thirty-seven cases were under the care of Miss Jennie Moffett, public health nurse, reported. One hundred and eight calls were made by the nurse, besides school examination work, friendly, business and juvenile court work. Four hundred and thirty-eight pages of literature were distributed during the month by Miss Moffett.

STRAWBERRIES AT 85 CENTS A QUART

Xenians who have had strawberry shortcake on their table all ready this season have indulged in an expensive as well as delicious luxury.

Strawberries have been on the local market about three weeks and have been of unusual quality considering the early season and extremely cold weather. Average retail price for the delectable berries has been eighty-five cents a quart.

Berries received here are shipped from Florida and have been difficult for fruit dealers to obtain. Owing to recent frosts in Florida, quality of the berries has been slightly affected, dealers say, and with the distance they must be shipped, has resulted in the high price.

Mother! It's Cruel to "Physic" Your Child

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 63

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purgative" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it. Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.—Adv.

YANKS UNDERGOING REORGANIZATION AT TRAINING GROUNDS

By HEIRY L. FARRELL
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 9.—The New York Yankees are undergoing a process of thorough reorganization at their training camp here.

Such progress is being made that Miller Huggins already is willing to venture the opinion that he has the makings of a first division club this year, while the players—particularly Babe Ruth—are certain they have such a team already.

The Babe, in better condition than he has been for years, thinks the Yanks will be back into the world's series, after two years on the outside looking at the Washington Senators perform.

Huggins does not like to hear pennant talk around the training camp.

"Confidence is to be desired," Huggins said, "but it isn't well to feel too sure. We learned that during the last two years."

Officials of the club believe that with Ruth ready to start in the first game and with Joe Dugan in better physical shape, the team is an improvement over last year. Ruth has worked himself into fine condition and Dugan seems to have recovered completely from the operation on his right knee.

Success of the team will depend largely upon Tony Lazzeri, slugging rookie from the Pacific Coast League and Mark Keonig, from the American Association who are to be tried at shortstop and second base. Lazzeri has not been a sensation in the training camp but he has been told to take it easy.

Erin Ward is also an infield possibility. He may win a regular berth from one of the two rookies at short or second base or he will be available for third base if anything happens to Dugan.

Buster Gerbig, who will handle first base, is also a youngster, but has had one season of good experience. The former Columbia star stepped in last year when Wally Pipp was hurt and did so well that Pipp couldn't get his job back when he recovered.

With Benny Gough and Pat Collins handling the catching, Huggins felt that Wally Schang will not be missed.

Collins came back to the majors from the American Association. The regular outfield, of course, will consist of Bob Muesel, who

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

The officials expect a lot from Waite Hoyt, the former Brooklyn schoolboy, who is many pounds lighter this season and who seems to be in the best of shape.

THE WASTE BASKET

OUR civilization is to be judged just as much by our waste-baskets as by our sky-scrapers. Indeed the musings of the great philosopher will be given over to this wide-mouthed receptacle of tagends just as much as to the more substantial and spectacular inventions and creations of man; it will inspire reflections not to be drawn from pyramids and subway tunnels and steam engines. The waste-basket is an institution universal and permanent. Thrones and altars may crumble, but all the frills and fineries of these vanishing works of man find then resting-place in the waste-basket. Empires flourish, and in the end come to nothing in the waste-basket of time. The waste-basket has outlived the inexorable laws of the Medes and Persians; it will remain at least to receive all the discarded hopes and strivings of mankind.

Human progress is to be understood only in the light of what is tossed thoughtlessly or dropped with a sigh into the waste-basket of the world. Their contents yesterday, today, and for all time to come, are the true index of human progress. It is by what we discard, as truly as by what we shall be judged.

The musing of the Great Philosopher on waste-basket is tinged with pathos. These ultimate repositories of human endeavor are often filled with fond aspirations come to naught; with hopes built on shifting sands, which ends of time spent of tasks bright in promise, but meagre in fulfillment. Unfinished labors of love are here, and scraps of endeavors which should never have been begun. These things discarded come from the hands of school children and teachers; from housewives and mothers; from artists and artisans; from princes and paupers and statesmen and prophets. And yet, the Great Philosopher will assure us, there is no need for discouragement. The hope which is grudgingly surrendered to the waste-basket beside the litter of a day, begets another plan, another dream, one less imperfect than those that went before. For it is by discarding the imperfect and ever building anew the civilization has supplanted savagery.

THE VANISHING ICEMAN

WITHIN the last year electric refrigeration has rapidly acquired a widespread importance through the linking up of co-operative effort between refrigeration manufacturers and electric power companies.

The great advantage of household electric refrigeration, are its automatic and steady operation, its ability to maintain lower temperature of dry cold with entire absence of moisture, drip and dirt, and its better conditioning of refrigerated food.

Parallel with household refrigeration has developed iceless storage of ice cream for confectionery stores, soda fountains and restaurants. The prospects for electric refrigeration extend even further and includes the florist and fine fruit trade, milk cooling, as well as certain processes of food manufacture.

Considering only the household market for electric refrigeration, the possibilities for this growing industry are enormous. Less than 1 per cent of the market has been sold, although unit sales have doubled each year for the last five years. With over 12,000,000 homes wired for electricity, the number of household electric refrigerators is expected to soon reach the washing machine figure which is nearly 4,000,000.

It is estimated that the iceless refrigeration units which will be manufactured this year, will require almost 30,000,000 pounds of copper.

OUR MELTING EARTH

THE earth's crust, says Prof. Joly of the University of Dublin isn't getting cooler, as is commonly supposed. It's getting hotter. And in something like 30,000,000 or 40,000,000 or 50,000,000 years, the continents are going to crack open and most of their present area is going to be submerged by the molten lava pouring up through.

Then, says the professor, the substratum will slowly cool, and the continents will rise up and take shape again, vegetation and animal life will reassert themselves, and life will proceed as before.

The disquieting thing about it is that this very catastrophe seems to have happened many times in the past, as the rock records show, though ordinarily it has been attributed to the cooling rather than the heating of the crust.

Still, the race may as well be broiled as frozen. And in all probability, we won't be here to feel the heat.

Answer: Gasoline will remove spots from your carpet, but do not use this fluid near heat or flame, for fear of fire. I know of nothing but strong glue to fasten on the piano keys.

SIDELIGHTS ON Greene County History

FIRST INFIRMARY

First infirmity in Greene County was erected in 1829 on a tract of land situated on the Dayton Pike one and one-half miles west of Xenia, two years after legislative action was taken in Ohio granting counties the right to establish institutions to care for the aged.

Contract for the building was let to George W. Stipp for $490.50 June 26, 1829. Building was composed of brick, sixty feet long, sixteen feet wide with a ceiling eight feet high.

The tract purchased was located on both sides of the pike dividing it into two parts of almost equal size. Site of the building was north of the road and immediately to the rear of the site of the old building once used for the County Children's Home before the present structure was erected.

It was built in this remote spot due to the fact water could be obtained here in abundance and with convenience. A spring house and smoke house were erected near the main building in 1830 at a cost of $54.50.

George Townsley, William McKnight and George Galloway were appointed first directors of the infirmity by County Commissioners.

William Ellis, Quaker, was appointed first superintendent with an annual salary of $250.

He was ordered to equip the institution with "four short-posted bedsteads and cords, three feather beds and one of chaff or straw; three blankets for each bed; two pillows and a bolster for each; one large square table and one small one and three arm chairs, plain, split-bottom."

Ellis reserved the right to send his children to school, four at a time for three months, since he was the father of seven.

READING TO A LITTLE GIRL

Reading to a little girl, Well, I'll tell you, there's a chore!

Nursery rhymes, a thousand times I have read them o'er and o'er. Here and there and everywhere Following the little bear.

Peter Rabbit, line by line, I have read it from the start, Fast and slow, till we know Every word of it by heart. Still she climbs upon my knee, Pleading, "Read this book to me."

Fairy stories, old and new, Hour by hour I've sat and read, Worn with age, and torn the page Stained with jam and buttered bread.

But she loves them, and she knows Just how every story goes. Mother reads until she's tired, Then she packs her off to me. When I doze, straight back she goes.

With the book to mother's knee, Here, I'd tell you, should you ask, Is a never-ending task.

Today's Talk

DREAMS

A boy writes to his father and asks: "Do you think that dreams can come true in your heart alone?"

And I write to that boy and say: "No, boy, dreams can come true far and wide outside the heart. They are born in the heart, warmed there, as a baby is warmed under a mother's heart, and then the world sees them in reality—in buildings, cities, states, inventions, great books, thrilling events, and in finer human beings."

Dreams are of the essence of stars. There is a great deal of mystery to every dream. And it is this substance which drives a man on and which clothes the dream, later to warm its life in great enterprises.

I have always liked the Good-night saying plus "pleasant dreams." As though in darkness we rested and grew in strength that light and life anew with the morning might bring us a colorful hope, a heart steeled for effort and a desire to be more useful than the day before.

Where would we be if we couldn't, if we didn't dream? As a boy, F. Hopkinson Smith used to play with a little boat in a tub. As a man he planted great light-houses on the rocky coasts of eastern America which have guided and led many a ship safely into port.

They laughed at Napoleon at his school on the island of Corsica. He was shy and quiet. But he wasn't shy and quiet when he led the armies of Europe. It was Hugo who said that God had to enter the arena in order to restore the world after the devastation of so restless a man. Merely dreams of the shy boy come true in action. What a changed world if those dreams had only come true in a different way!

The great state of Florida is being developed, not by real estate dealers, but by dreamers. The day of the real estate dealer, who lives for quick profit alone, passes. But the day of the dreamer comes with the great state, the better place in which to live—and a higher breed of men who leave an inspiring path behind them through which the following generations may walk.

Never discount dreams. They are the substance of life itself. And perhaps of Heaven!

MODISH MITZI—Mitzi Works Her Will Power Overtime By JAY V. JAY

10:40

Mitzi as been reading all about will power—how to have it, how to exert it, how to develop it 15 minutes a day. In the morning comes one of the big tests. She has an appointment at eleven o'clock, and she is tell herself that "she will be there." It's high time she started dressing for it—her pajama negligee is charming, but hardly suitable for street wear.

Every minute of the way is beset with temptations. The formula for will power development may be simple, but Mitzi finds it extremely difficult. It's taken 40 minutes to get this far toward meeting her appointment. Not that it required so long a time to slip into this charming brassiere and undy combination, but a certain amount of admiration is due it.

Mitzi is making history. It is exactly 10:55, which leaves her five minutes to get where she is going. It will probably be the first time in all her fashionable existence that she has been less than a half hour late. In this costume, almost any one would feel that tardiness was excusable. Mitzi's will power is working, when you watch call overtime.

THE MODERN BELLE

The daughter sits in the parlor,
And rocks on her easy chair,
She is dressed in silks and satins
And jewels are in her hair;
She winks, and giggles and simpers,
And simpers and giggles and winks;
And though she talks but little
It's vastly more than she thinks.

Her father goes clad in russet—
All dirty and seedy at that;
His coat is out at the elbows,
And he wears a shocking bad hat,
He is hoarding and saving his dollars,
So carefully day by day,
While she on her whims and fancies
Is squandering them all away.

She lies in bed of a morning
Until the hour of noon,
Then comes down snapping and snarling
Because she's called too soon.
Her hair is still in papers,
Her cheeks still dabbed with paint—
Remains of last night's blushing
Before she attempted to faint.

Her feet are so very little,
Her hands are so very white,
Her jewels are so very heavy,
And her head is so very light;
Her color is made of cosmetics,
Tho this she'll never own;
Her body is mostly cotton,
And her heart is wholly stone.

She falls in love with a fellow
Who swells with a foreign air;
He marries her for her money,
She marries him for his hair,
One of the very best matches,
Both are well mated in life;
She's got a fool for a husband,
And he's got a fool for a wife.

Wait a minute! Wait a minute! I didn't write that. I found it in an old book, published more than 60 years ago. What I want to know is who can write a parody on this poem and give us the dope on the modern girl of today. I'll print the best poem within a few days that is submitted and will give $1 for it. Think of it. A whole dollar.

So this is March. Where's that groundhog? Thousands stayed home all day and read the ads on this page. And they like them. Phone 111 tomorrow.

TOWN PUMP STARTS YIELDING GAS BUT DRILL IS FAILURE

JAMESTOWN, N. D., March 9.—Perversity of the old town well at Robinson, 75 miles northwest of here which suddenly started yielding oil where only water was desired or expected, and persistence of more recently drilled wells which refuse despite prayers and exhortations to produce anything but pure water, has created considerable dissatisfaction with nature in this corner of North Dakota.

For twenty years the old town well at Robinson, a cavern 600 feet deep, provided a never-failing supply of clear, cold water. It was the best drinking well in the village and 500 inhabitants depended upon it.

But one day the bucket emerged from the well containing a liquid contaminated with a foreign substance later identified as oil. The contamination continued with increasing intensity until finally it was the purest mixture of gasoline and petroleum ever found in the United States.

The brown fluid tested 62.8 percent. Only twice before in American oil history had petroleum in its natural state attained a test of 60 percent. Geologists called upon to investigate said Robinson's oil supply filtered through a formation of quiescent and alkalai which accounted for its unusual purity.

The oil continued to form a coating over the water in the town well and ruined utterly the formerly faithful source of supply. Many residents bemoaned the condition. But foreigners, with little interest in the quality of Robinson's water, reacted differently to the news of oil where only water had been before, all projects started immediately to appear.

Notable among the ventures launched was that of A. C. Townley, organizer and head of the Non-partisan league during its political heyday. On a five acre tract near Robinson he caused to be erected a derrick towering eighty-five feet into the air and around it a fifteen foot board fence.

It was rumored outside the inaccessible enclosure that $20,000 worth of casing and equipment was at the foot of the $5,000 derrick and that Townley was spending a total of $100,000 in his effort to tap the source of contamination of the Robinson town well.

Thus far, however, there has been no report of oil anywhere in the state except what accumulates in the well. Only pure water has been discovered under the crust of earth in Robinson and its environs.

Other projects than those already started are planned. Hope for those to come and annoyance with those already started runs high.

RESIGNATION HERE

crease of $120 in the matron's yearly income. Commissioners aim to reduce expenses of the infirmity in this manner, it is said.

Superintendent Crow declared that while "he has no criticism to offer" regarding action of commissioners in enlarging the farm acreage of the institution, he felt it would be better to resign than undertake the additional responsibility.

He pointed out the superintendent should devote practically his entire time to the internal organization of the institution to obtain best results. Under the additional duties which would be imposed, burdensome duties would also be forced upon Mrs. Crow as matron, he said.

Superintendent and Mrs. Crow will live temporarily after April 1 in an apartment on E. Main St. The superintendent has not decided upon future business activities.

Mr. Crow has been superintendent at the infirmity for the past three years. He was appointed March 1, 1923 under civil service to succeed Matt S. Smith, who resigned January 27, 1923. Mrs. Crow became matron at the same time.

The superintendent was formerly in charge of the Xenia Work House, joint county and city penal institution, for sixteen and one-half years during which time the institution gained the reputation of being one of the best managed in this section of the state.

He served continuously until July 1, 1918 and in September of the same year was appointed Xenia ticket agent for the Dayton, Springfield and Xenia Southern Railway Co., a position he held until his appointment as infirmity superintendent.

Under direction of the state department of public welfare, division of charities, and Mr. Crow, a steady campaign of repair and improvement was begun by commissioners several years ago to bring the institution up to standards of sanitation and order.

Extensive improvements were made in painting and decoration of the interior of the main building.

Superintendent Crow served continuously as head of the institution for three years with exception of about one month in December, 1924 when commissioners made an effort to oust him on grounds of irregularities and poor conditions at the home. He was later reinstated by the civil service commission.

County infirmity under supervision of Mr. Crow made an especially enviable record for the year ending August 31, 1924. Statistics revealed by the Ohio Welfare Department disclosed the local infirmity expenses were $11.34 per capita less than the average per capita for such institutions in the state. Average cost was placed at $28.75 per capita annually.

HAIRS OF YOUR HEAD NUMBERED SAUER
TELLS CLASS OF BALD-HEADED MEN

By MACK SAUER

I will take a very polished subject to write about this morning—the bald heads of Xenia. I trust it will not go over your head.

"Gentlemen, the very hairs of your heads are numbered," I said to the Men's Class of Rev. Tilford's Church a few Sundays ago, never even dreaming of referring to the bald heads in the class.

But several of those with dazzling pates thought I was referring to their glistening domes. Cautiously and with trembling palms they lifted their hands and ran them over their shining knobs, slippery from soap and water, and many of them were able to count what they found without going into double digits.

I was quite embarrassed by the situation and, to get myself at ease, I suggested that we sing a song. Looking through the hymnal hurriedly, I found an old familiar ballad I liked very much.

"Gentlemen," said I, "let us sing 'When the Roll is Called Up Yonder.'"

One man whose head is almost as smooth and shining as the marble top of a cafeteria table, didn't take the suggestion any to well. He thought I was hinting at calling the roll of the hairs on the heads present.

Another just being missed being classed in the bald headed class by a hair's breadth. But he joined in the singing, as did many of the other men.

One boy whose head resembled a rabbit, made me say to myself: "There is a man with but a single hair."

Continuing with the lesson, I

FATHER OF XENIAN
CALLED BY DEATH

John Mohler, 85, father of Mrs. Albert Borden, Hill St., died at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Dayton, Monday afternoon. Mr. Mohler underwent an operation for the amputation of his arm several weeks ago and never recovered from the ordeal. Operation was necessitated by a tumor on his elbow, to prevent the disease from spreading.

Besides Mrs. Borden, Mr. Mohler is survived by two sons and another daughter, all of Dayton. He formerly resided at the Borden home, until about six months ago. Two sisters, Mrs. Amanda Routzong and Mrs. Sarah Hemphill, Dayton, also survive.

He was formerly a structural iron worker and was in charge of the iron work around the cupola of the old Central High School, E. Market St.

Mis brother, Harry Mohler, Dayton, died two weeks ago and a nephew, Frank Mohler, Celina, died three weeks ago.

The body was removed to the Restorer Funeral Parlors, Dayton, where funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon with interment in Woodland Cemetery, Dayton.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

MARY WAITE, a stenographer, has a misunderstanding with STEWART HOWE, whom she loved, because she has accepted the attentions of an older man, PAT HAMILTON, who is a prominent politician. Mary finds that Hamilton's interest in her is the wrong kind, and runs away from him one evening when they are dining together. Soon afterward she loses her position, and gets another with STANLEY BLAKE, who has just gone into business for himself. She meets CELIA STEWART, and together they set up housekeeping in two rooms.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT
XV—INTERESTING DEVELOPMENTS

As the days flew past Mary settled swiftly into the routine of Stanley Blake's office, a routine which she herself worked out, because he had no time for it.

He had a mail-order business in cosmetics, a flourishing one, which he was handling ably, and which grew rapidly because the goods in which he dealt were really excellent.

VIOLET DARE were really excellent. Mary soon took that last detail of his mind. She could take care of the correspondence quite as well as he could, and loved doing it. She also kept a record of shipments, banked the money that came in, in nearly every mail, and before long was writing some of the smaller orders.

"How I ever got along without you I don't see," he told her one day, several months after she first came to work for him. "You're as necessary to the business as I am. I'd like to give you a raise, if I didn't have to wonder on a cent into making the business bigger."

"I'd rather have stock in the company," Mary answered, amazed at her own boldness. "That would mean ever so much more to me."

"Say, that's a good idea," he exclaimed. "A great one. I'll have to incorporate to give it to you. I've always meant to do that. I'll get at it first chance I have."

Mary worked harder than ever after that. At last she had something real, was making a place for herself in the world. Her stock-investments, bringing in returns. She told Celia about it that evening, and they celebrated by going to the theater, in balcony seats, for which Mary paid.

"I do love the theater," Celia sighed. "How wonderful it must be to go whenever you want to, and sit down in front, and wear evening clothes and come in an automobile! Some day I'm going to do that. I'm going to have everything I want, everything!"

In the face of that, Mary's own claims to happiness dwindled. But when she was alone that night in bed they grew big again. Why, she had everything now—her wonderful job, and her share in the business—when she got it, that was—and her nice little home, she had everything! She had a new dress, a new preparation, a cold cream that made it unnecessary to use face powder also. Mary had several ideas for the way in which it should be put up and advertised, and suggested them when he came in late one afternoon, his face pale with fatigue, to begin work on it.

"Say, that's great!" he exclaimed, when she had talked for a few moments. "I'll tell you what we'll do—I'll phone my wife, and we'll have dinner somewhere now—it's nearly six—and then we'll go over all this afterward, and get it into shape. I never can do it alone tonight, and the advertising copy's got to go out tomorrow if it's to reach those Western papers in time."

Mary agreed. They had dinner at the restaurant on the corner, the one she couldn't afford, but Blake paid for her dinner, saying he'd save it up to expenses.

"Heaven knows, you're worth more than I pay you," he told her. "I can afford to buy you a meal once in a while. I haven't forgot that incorporation matter, incidentally, I'll see my lawyer about it tomorrow."

They went back to the office building afterward, but it was locked. Blake had no key to the street door. There was a watchman, but they couldn't find him anywhere.

"If that isn't luck!" Blake said, disgustedly. "Of course he'd be off somewhere tonight, just because we want him." Mary did not remind him that they should have remembered to look up the watchman before they went out and say that they would be back later. "If I lived in town we could go to my house, but it's clear out in Montrose. Well, there goes our evening's work. I guess."

"We could work in my room," Mary suggested. "I have sort of a little apartment, with another girl; we could work there."

She telephoned the rooming house and told Celia that they were coming. Blake took a taxi, and then had to borrow some of the money from Mary to pay for it. He puffed a little as they climbed the stairs, but when Mary threw open the living-room door the room looked so charming that he declared it was worth the climb.

Celia had bought flowers for the bowl on the chest of drawers, and for a vase that stood on her desk. She was sitting at the desk, writing, when they came in, under a softly shaded lamp, and looked up shyly when Mary brought Stanley Blake over to her side.

She had put on a pink dress, one that she wore sometimes when she was sitting at the desk, writing, when they came in, under a softly shaded lamp, and looked up shyly when Mary brought Stanley Blake over to her side.

She had put on a pink dress, one that she wore sometimes when she was sitting at the desk, writing, when they came in, under a softly shaded lamp, and looked up shyly when Mary brought Stanley Blake over to her side.

Celia urged him to take the big chair.

slip away and put on a clean blouse, and wash her face and hands, but that would never do, she told herself. Blake would want to get to work at once.

If he did, he made no effort to do so. Celia urged him to take the big chair, brought out some cigarettes, she must have hurried out to buy them. Mary realized—moved one of the drop lights so that it did not shine in his eyes. She laughed with him over the day she had applied to him for a job—Mary's job, now—and had told him that she couldn't live on what he could pay.

"I really couldn't," she assured him now, her brown eyes open very wide. "I'm not used to living as girls do who've always worked; I'm a home girl, Mr. Blake, and I just have to have a home."

"Well, you've certainly got one here," he told her appreciatively, looking about him. "This is charming."

He and Mary got down to work at last, about eleven o'clock. It was nearly one when he left, with Celia leaning over the banisters of the hall stairs to call a last soft "Good-night!" to him.

"He's awfully nice, isn't he," she murmured as she came back into the living room.

"Yes, he is," Mary answered from the bedroom door. "I wonder what his wife's like."

"His wife?" Celia's voice sounded surprised, as if somebody had slapped her in the face. "I didn't know he had a wife." Then, after a moment, "But, then, what's a wife for? Friends? That man's going to have a lot of money some day."

Mary didn't want to link those two statements. She went to bed hurriedly, anxious to keep Celia from talking any more. But Celia showed no desire to talk, she sat before the mirror, brushing her hair a hundred times—a practice she had given up lately, till tonight.

New Way to End
Dangerous Cough

The most stubborn cough is relieved with the first dose, and is very often broken up entirely in 24 hours by a new method based on the new Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs.

Here is the method: You simply take one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but also loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing. So with the cause removed, the severest cough usually disappears quickly.

Dr. King's New Discovery is for coughs, chest colds, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. Fine for children, too—no harmful drugs. Very economical, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for thought I detected the presence of some unusual phenomena of light. I found that it was only the expansive refulgence diffused from the glistening pates of those before me.

Looking down on the different heads in the class, with here a patch of red, there a dome of black, and so on, the scene reminded me of the old-fashioned crazy quilt. Only no crazy quilt ever had so many beaming patches of white in it as I saw there.

After the lesson was discussed, the reports read, announcements given, and the usual quota of business attended to, I asked for a closing hymn to be suggested. Mayor John Prugh, who occupied a front seat, responded with, "Let's sing, 'Count Your Blessings.'"

So we sang "Count Your Blessings."

It's a cold morning. How did you know? Did you look at the thermometer or did your tingling fingers shout the news? Perhaps the thermometer verified your own opinion but you knew it was cold before you looked. Your common sense told you.

Exactly!

When you take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound or any other medicine—how do you know it helps you? Do you ask the neighbors? Do you try to figure it out on a scientific basis? Certainly not.

You feel better and your common sense tells you what caused it. Science may confirm your own opinion, but you knew it all the time.

Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Then judge for yourself. The Third Generation

Mrs. W. O. Blewett, Route B, Box 197a, Lakeland, Florida, says: "I first took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was a girl. My mother had taken it, also my grandmother used it in her family for her eight daughters and herself. I think this medicine does more for women than anything else I know of. I recommend it to my friends and several have taken it because of my recommendation."
